

Not an expert in Canada

The Indigenous Early Learning and Child Care Framework sets out a shared vision, principles and a path forward for Indigenous early learning and child care where all Indigenous children have the opportunity to experience high-quality, culturally rooted early learning and child care programming.

This Indigenous ELCC Framework sets the stage for Indigenous governance of improved and new systems of ELCC policy, programs and supports for Indigenous children and families, now and in the future.

Through engagement sessions a unanimous recognition of the importance of ELCC for Indigenous children and families reaffirmed and echoed the findings of the Royal Commission on Aboriginal Peoples and the need to honour the rights and obligations set out in the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples (the Declaration).

Has CWELCC made a difference for Indigenous families?

Are there strategies in progress or under consideration that would enhance ELCC experiences for Indigenous families? I.e. recruiting and retaining Indigenous educators, stable enrolment for families who travel on and off reserve, subsidy access, etc.

What are the positive changes that the program has brought about for Indigenous families

Examples of how the program has helped indigenous families access high-quality child care and early learning services

What are the impacts of the program on the overall well-being of Indigenous families

joe rock
joe.rock@toronto.ca